About the Weavers’ Guild of Boston

Founded in 1922, the Weavers' Guild of Boston (WGB) is the oldest and one of the largest weavers' guilds in the United States. The WGB was an outgrowth of the Arts and Crafts movement that emphasized the repertoire of crafts skills and standards of workmanship in the face of increased mass production of goods. The WGB functions as a regional gathering for New England weavers, with many members belonging to one or more local guilds. Guild programs such as workshops and discussion groups, educate members and the general public in the artistic and technical aspects of handweaving, and serve to advance the standards of handweaving. A portion of the sales’ proceeds will support the study and weaving of textiles.
